PTQG General Meeting

1. Call to Order 06:30 pm.

President's welcome to our 40th celebration.
A big thank you to Annica and her team. We will have a regular meeting and then enjoy tea.

We're at 1010 pillowcases for Ryan's Cases for Smiles. We have done a good job following the requirements. Community service has kits to make more.

Guild Survey – this is your chance to for input. We have over 200 members and input all important. The Guild is about 30% new members which is significant, and we need their ideas to make sure we are providing what everyone needs. The survey will close on June 7.

Roseville Guild brought their Opportunity Quilt.

We See You Award: Frances O'Brien was recognized for her work with the Guild as well as her availability and ability to answer questions and assist members.

2. Announcements!

Sofia Day announced the name tag exchange. She has a form for name tag requests. She will pass on to each person another name to prepare a tag for. She has examples. Finished tags will be exchanged at the October meeting.

Jamboree – October 5th –
Classes include Erica Caldeira teaching EPP, Julie Berry and Sofia Day will teach beginning art quilting, and Francis O'Brien to create "Sun Rays" using curved rulers. There is a refundable $25 fee. Sign up at a general meeting, our website or through an email that will be going out.

Nevada County Fair Information: Holly Miner let the Guild know that sign-ups for quilt entries are earlier than usual. Online or paper entries are due July 15. Quilts need to be turned in on July 22.

White Glove volunteers are needed. You get entry and parking. Sign up with Holly or on Signup Genius.

Teresa Finn: Home workshop this month will be bindings with Frances O'Brien.

Lorna Straka got to show her first prize quilt and Terry McFeely showed her 3rd place "Ruby Woman"

Next Year's Challenge – "Opposites Attract". Use two colors that are on the opposite side of the color wheel. Black, cream, or white are allowed. Try to include the theme. Pattern, solids, or combinations are permitted. Entries should be kept secret and will be voted on at the quilt show by the public. There is more information in the May newsletter.

Speaker Workshop – September with Colleen Granger. Participants get to choose from 6 patterns which will be provided. $35 for the class.

Vaughn encouraged people to start thinking about 2025. We had a great show with great feedback. Meetings will begin in September. All are welcome to attend. These committees need mentees to learn a position: president and vice president, cleaning country store (2), publicity, set up and take down (1-2), treasurer (1). The 2025 show will be the last weekend in April. Jeanne thanked Vaughn for all her hard work.

Sofia Day won a voucher for a speaker workshop from the Quilt Show volunteer raffle.

Membership – 2 new members were introduced. 88 members were in attendance.

Sheri Doerr, Scholarship Committee Chair, introduced her team. The scholarships are given in the names of past members. $2,500 was presented to Judah Sharma. His life vision centers around art. He is committed to changing the mindset to it not being so risky or just a hobby. It can be a real job and way of life. He is looking to get a degree in illustration with a minor in business to round out his skills. Jeanne presented him with his certificate.

3. Patchwork Star: Jeanie Ferguson introduced Anne Padget. She showed quilts from classes and mini group including stack and slash, paper piecing, quilts from several Sandra Bruce classes, Asian fabric with Drunkards Path, a quilt from a kit that was in the show, and a large bag.

4. Show and Tell: About 12 people shared their latest creations. This included people who created fabric wreaths at Lilian Glaser's Home Workshop

5. Tea Time! Annica was presented with a special teacup and plate for all of her efforts. The party was decorated with fabric tea pots, flowers were provided by GV florist, Annica made scrappy teacup coasters for everyone. The centerpiece was awarded to the person with a heart on their coaster.
